V. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

7. Ricardo Llamas is 43 and currently works as truck driver.

8. March 26, 2019 Ricardo was at a flea market with a friend.

9. Around 10 p.m. Ricardo was in the Flea market parking lot is his friend's Jeep. His girlfriend was also in the parking lot. As Ricardo was driving the Jeep through the parking lot Deputy Mook shot at the Jeep around ten times with several bullets striking the vehicle.

10. Several bullets struck Ricardo. At least one of the bullets was fired when Deputy Mook, a Harris County Sheriff's Deputy was behind and beside the Jeep as it drove away at a low speed. The bullet entered the rear fender of the Jeep and through the back of the driver's seat and struck Ricardo in the back. See Exhibits 1 and 2.

11. Ricardo did not drive at Deputy Mook nor assault him in any manner.

12. Due to Deputy Mook's false statements Ricardo was charged with felony aggravated assault of a public servant and had to hire a lawyer at great expense. Ricardo was not convicted of that crime and instead was convicted of misdemeanor deadly conduct.

13. Sheriffs Tommy Thomas, Adrian Garcia and Ron Hickman were aware of many instances of improper shootings by deputies (infra) yet failed to discipline or retrain the officers so as to prevent the excessive force shootings. They turned a blind eye to the many improper shootings of civilians as set forth below and allowed a culture of excessive force to flourish.

14. According to Harris County statistics, there has been over 3000 excessive use of force allegations made against Harris County Sheriff's department in 2015 alone. However, there are very few findings of unjustified force or firings as a result.

15. Facts supporting the Monell claims are set out quite clearly in other past and pending suits. The Harris County Sheriff's office has a long history of using an "unnecessary application of force."²

² Other cases demonstrating custom, policy and practice of Harris County: SDTX Houston Division Case 4:16-cv-02944 [Dkt. 13]

16. Harris County uses unnecessary force on its jail detainees, while on patrol, and working as security officers. On June 9, 2009, the United States Department of Justice (“DOJ”) issued a memorandum entitled “Investigation of the Harris County Jail” (“2009 DOJ Memorandum”).

17. Of the many constitutional deficiencies identified by the DOJ, two are specifically pertinent to this case: (1) Harris County permitted its employees to use significant force without having measures in place that would enable it to review the propriety of such uses of force; and (2) jail supervisors approved officers’ use of force without investigating the need for that force.

18. The DOJ referred to these deficiencies as “systemic.”

19. On information and belief, Harris County Jail has a history of determining that actions by employees that constitute an unnecessary use of force— specifically closed fist strikes to the face—were “justified” and “within the guidelines of policy, procedure, and law.” Such determinations and persistent practices were a driving force behind injuries to prisoners, and others outside the jail setting including Ms. Holman.

20. In April 2017, Harris County Sheriff Deputies used excessive force when they shot and killed Michael Maldonado.

21. On March 22, 2018, Harris County Sheriff Deputy Cameron Brewer shot an unarmed man, Danny Thomas, to death. A Harris County grand jury indicted Mr. Brewer on one count of aggravated assault by a public servant, a first-degree felony that carries a maximum penalty of life in prison. A federal lawsuit against Brewer and the county claims the officer used excessive force “even after observing that Mr. Thomas was unarmed and clearly in a state of crisis or suffering from mental health problems, and was not then presenting any objective danger to others or himself”.

22. In November 2017 Harris County Sheriff's deputy Shauna Thompson used excessive force upon John Hernandez in concert with Terry Thompson resulting in Mr. Hernandez's death. Terry Thompson was convicted of murder and Shauna Thompson is awaiting trial on murder charges.

Deputies had responded to a domestic violence call in which a young girl said her uncle was beating her mother. After the deputies removed the girl and her mother from the home, Mathis barricaded himself in his bedroom, refusing to come out. About 45 minutes later deputies went into the bedroom, and Mathis allegedly lunged at them. Two Taser shots apparently had no effect on Mathis, and Harrison and Hamlet shot him several times.

When a manager of the Big Texas Dance Saloon arrived at the building around 7 am, he found the door had been kicked in. He flagged down a passing patrol car and asked the deputy to check inside. When he got back in his car to get his I.D., Waybright claims he started the car. Waybright shot at Gragert three times, striking him in the hand and upper torso. It is unclear how a gunshot could have struck Gragert in his torso, since the deputy allegedly was standing behind the car. It appears Waybright violated HCSO policy by shooting at a moving vehicle. Gragert died an hour later.
